Section B

51. Read the passage below carefully and then answer in full sentences the questions that follow.

As Kirungi and Golola grew up, their housing estate was a dirty and disorderly place with litter everywhere. They got used to it and kept dumping garbage anywhere. There was always a bad smell but with time, they got used to that too !

As a result, skin and chest infections were common. Parents always warned their children against playing outdoors. They thought it was too risky to allow the young ones to freely roam out of the house just in case they became thirsty and drank the slimy water in the open trenches.

It is until one environmentalist visited the school where the two pupils went that they began to think seriously about conserving the environment. The visitor talked to the entire school about the danger of polluting our environment. "Rivers will dry up, rains will stop and soil erosion will be the order of the day. Land will become unproductive and eventually food will become scarce" said the visiting environmentalist.

"Sir, what contribution can we poor boys and girls make towards conserving our environment, you see we are young and have no money to do anything?" Asked Kawalata, a P.5 boy. "That is a good question !" Replied the visitor. "Although you are young, there is quite a lot of things you can do to conserve our environment." "Actually, you really don't need money to make your contribution," he continued. "You can plant trees and grass to stop erosion, you can dispose off garbage more responsibly, put litter in dust-bins or wastebaskets, but above all share this good message of environment conservation with everybody-young and old," he concluded.

The visitor's educative message was so good that everybody in the school was touched. From that day, the people in the school, especially children, decided to take full responsibility whenever they noticed something that would harm their environment. They would come together as a team to sort out that problem.

54. Read the following poem carefully and in full sentences answer the questions that follow.

ON THE WEDDING DAY

I

Should I,
Or should I not,
Take a vow to love,
Forever,
This person I know little about?

II

Does she love me,
Or my car,
Or my future,
Which I know little about?

III

Will she continue,
Or not continue,
To love,

IV

Will that smile she wears,
Last through the thick and thin,
When misfortunes strike,

Or not to love me,
When my wealth crumbles?

To turn the luck,
Into bad luck?

V

Or will she,
Like a clever passenger,
In a faulty plane,
Wear her life jacket,
dreams,
Leave me in and jump out to save her life.

VI

We are both wise, gamblers,
She makes a move,
I make a move,
We trap each other in our secret
Hopping to win against each other.

BY DANIEL .N.
