SECTION B: 50 MARKS

51. Read the passage below carefully and in full sentences answer the questions that follow.

“Carpentry is a well-paying job. This job is done by the carpenters at the carpentry workshops. With their saws, they cut wood into pieces and later on use planes to make the surface of wood smooth. Smoothing the wood requires energy and carefulness. They later on use drills to create holes on the already prepared pieces of wood for furniture known as planks. These planks are thereafter joined together using wood glue and nails with the help of a hammer.

Sanding and polishing is done to make the already fixed furniture attractive. Once the whole process is done, the furniture is put on display ready for sale.” Okello gave the narrative. He narrated this during one of the English lessons conducted by Ms. Eunice Abonyo. When asked about the source of information, Okello said that he had visited a carpentry workshop in Nalukolongo trading centre a week before.

We all liked his narrative due to his audibility and confidence and as his classmates, some of us picked interest in visiting carpentry workshops to get the information from the source. One of the girls, Dorothy decided that she would join carpentry after her primary seven so that she could start making money soon when she got the story. It was such an amazing lesson that we all enjoyed and the teacher thanked Okello for being resourceful during her lesson.

The time of fun and excitement
As serious and willing pupils
Contest to be voted as prefects
Through a democratic process.

Elections at our schools
Taken seriously by the chairperson electoral commission
Who displays posts to be contested for
And gives guidance to be followed.

Elections at our school.
The head prefect strictly from primary six
Whereas other posts are open
To whoever can pay 10,000/= to be nominated
Just to reduce the number of applicants.

Elections at our school
The winners are determined by a few factors.
Those who can speak English fluently
And serves sweets await their victory.
