SECTION B

51. Read the passage below carefully and answer the questions about it in full sentences.

CONSERVATION OF FORESTS

This is the protecting of forests. This is often done by the government which puts in place rules against the destruction of forests. People may be forbidden from carrying out activities like tree harvesting. However, controlled harvesting may be permitted to people who must get special licenses from the government authorities. In Uganda, it is NEMA body that is responsible.

Some of the forest reserves in Uganda include Mabira in the central, Lendu in the North-western and Budongo in western Uganda. Many people today have learnt how to save the environment because they fear to be locked up and have resorted to other means. They use gas and charcoal stoves made out of clay. These stoves use less charcoal. The government has also embarked on rural areas. People use electricity for cooking, lighting and other ways

If our environment is conserved, global warming will obviously reduce. The climate will change as the natural vegetation modifies the state of our surrounding.
