SECTION B:

51. Read the passage below carefully and in full sentences, answer the questions that follow.

Different people have different opinions about children's rights. Children's rights are natural freedoms all children must enjoy. A child is any person below the age of eighteen according to the Children Act.

Children's rights include the right to immunisation, right to education and guidance, right to shelter, right to adequate diet, right to clothing, a right to medical attention. Many children especially my fellow candidates are now aware of these rights. They sing them day and night.

One thing that amazes me is the fact that children's rights go hand – in – hand with responsibilities. A good number of children are excited about their rights, however they forget that they also have a responsibility to do. For example, right to education needs to be followed by studying hard, revising notes, attending school regularly.

I always feel disturbed when parents of some of my classmates get disappointing results from their children. Some of them blame teachers for their children's poor performance, others request for extra lessons so as to improve on the grades. The question is: Why don't those children play their role?

Some children think when they study, they are helping the teacher and their parents, they are wrong. Studying hard helps one to fulfill one's responsibility towards right to education.

Ever since I discovered this secret, my academic performance has not declined. I am grateful to my parents and to my dear teachers for guiding me achieve this level of success.

I therefore request all my friends and classmates to work hard, cooperate with their teachers so as to reap big, come Primary Leaving Examination 2022.

52. Read the poem below and in full sentences answer the questions about it.

Elections in schools,
Elections make people busy,
Moving up and down,
Singing all sorts of songs
As a sign of support
To their favourite candidate
Democracy is all they require.

Elections have come
Vacant posts are here
Announced by the Chairman Electoral Commission
And the results are ready
The winners celebrate victory
Losers weep because they were defeated.

Elections in every school
It's unbelievable during the campaigns!
Candidates move just like they are on a plane
Promising the possible and the impossible
Giving gifts to the voters
Soap, sugar, rice and some money
To bribe them, this is wrong.

My friend, listen to me
Say no to corruption in elections
Fairness and freedom should exist
Leads to good leadership
And good leaders come from God.
