Section B. (50 Marks)

51. Read the passage below carefully and then answer, in full sentences, the questions that follow.

In 2022, there was an election of prefects in Wozambe Primary School. This election was organized in the second term. Before the election, the chairperson of the school electoral commission, Mr Mwamba Joseph announced at the assembly on Friday about the election. This created awareness among the pupils. He also advised those who were interested to visit the school noticeboard to find out about the list of posts to apply for.

After one day, the interested pupils wrote their applications. They submitted the applications to the chairperson of the school electoral commission. These applications were screened and the applicants who qualified were shortlisted. Their names were displayed on the school noticeboard. They were also told to start the campaigns. After one week, the general campaigns were held in the school assembly ground. Every candidate convinced the voters to vote for him or her

When the general campaigns were done, the election day was selected. Early in the morning on Wednesday. All the pupils voted for the prefects of their choices. The teachers counted the votes after voting. Immediately after voting, Mr Mwamba called for an assembly and announced the results. Radios, you are part of electronic media
People choose to use you
Because you are portable
You are durable and easy to charge
My grandmother says so.

Radios you are unique
We get to listen to voices
You sometimes confuse the young ones
Not being able to see people speaking
The deaf don't enjoy you
The young say so.

Radios you are a mean of communication
We listen to news, gospel songs at my favourite channel, Galaxy
Sunday is always remarkable
Hot music, favourite stars
Hosted by Rodger K
Listeners say so.

Radios you are multi-purpose
We can connect USB, flash to you
With this, we don't listen to Radio programs
Rather intended programs
Citizens say so.
