Ojuma is a very re-known herdsman in Odombole village. He keeps a very large herd of cattle with several head of cattle.

He leaves his home at exactly 8:00a.m to push his animals down the swamp to graze. He makes sure he leaves all the calves home because he has the fear that they can be attacked and killed by wild animals.

At 2:00p.m, Ojuma ensures that his animals drink water and after he takes those to be milked for milking.

Ojuma is boastful of improved welfare of his family members simply because he gets atleast forty-five litres of milk daily which he sells to his neighbours and people in nearby centres. He keeps some for his home consumption. He says, he roughly gets sixty thousand shillings every day from the milk. He adds that, this has helped him to afford basic needs for his family and educated four of his children in powerful schools.

Crop farmers like Ojuma for the reason that he doesn't interfere with their work. He ensure that his animals don't eat and destroy his friends' crops. For this reason, he lives in harmony with everyone in his village.

SUGAR DADDIES

SUGAR DADDIES

You are very merciless people
Why wreck our future?
We are crying because of rape and defilement
You take the advantage of your money and gifts to lure us to immoral acts.

You are very disrespectful
Why not to honour your age?
At 70 years! You still behave like wolves!
Money is a blessing but don't turn it a curse.

You are very unhelpful
I thought you were giving me money as your daughter
But I didn't know that it would make me reach the lounge
You are indeed ungodly.

You are very shameless
Killing people's young children is your Joy
Forgetting they are the future of their parents.
The only thing you are interested in is satisfying your selfish desires.

Maria Kamata 14 years old.
