He used to go to the village centre to play cards with other idle men every morning.

One day Mr. Tasaga, the chairman LCI, called the residents for a village meeting to discuss the challenges they face in their homes. This meeting was attended by both men and women of that village. Before the meeting started, every man was told to sit with his wife. Yeseri was not comfortable with this idea, but he had nothing else to do.

The meeting then started with the question; "What challenges do you face in your homes? Nakate quickly raised her hand and said that she was tired of spending some days and nights without food. She also said that she was tired of living with a very irresponsible husband. Nakate while shedding tears said, "I wake up very early in the morning to look for food for both my children and the lazy man."

Yeseri hid his head between his legs in total shame. The chairman told him to apologise to his wife. The other members in the meeting also advised him to start looking for what to do in order to earn some money. He thanked the members for the piece of advice and promised to start growing cotton on the acres of land that he inherited from his father.
