They also gave each activity the time and place. This time, they did not plan for remedial classes. Most of them had performed well in the previous exams.

During the first week of the holidays, most of these children stayed with their parents at home. They were supposed to discuss their performance at school. The second week was a busy one, it was time to travel and visit relatives. The children needed some money for travelling. Most of them were very happy. Their parents provided the money.
